AIRMAN RISKS LIFE TO SAVE INJURED MAN

Stanley McMillan Makes Heroic Flight Over Northern Wilderness

TWICE FORCED TO LAND BY STORMS

WHITE HORSE, Y.T., July 28 (CP).—Frank "Red" Crawford, injured in a premature explosion of blasting powder at McDame's Creek during last week-end, tonight had a fighting chance for life because of a heroic flight across 225 miles of wilderness in a Canadian Airways plane piloted by Stanley McMillan.

TWICE FORCED DOWN

Twice forced down after taking off Monday from Telegraph Creek, to fly 200 miles to McDame's Creek, Pilot McMillan fought rough weather before reaching the gold mining camp where Crawford, believed to be an American, lay suffering from severe burns and cuts to his face and upper part of his body.

Getting his patient into the plane, McMillan flew to Atlin, 200 miles west and slightly south of McDame's Creek, and then continued on 125 miles north to White Horse, where he arrived today. Rough weather was also encountered on the McDame's Creek—White Horse flight, with last night spent on the shores of Good Hope Lake.

May Become Chief of Imperial Staff

SIR PHILIP CHETWODE, the present commander-in-chief of India, is expected to succeed Sir George Milne as chief of the Imperial General Staff of the British Army next February.

BOLD BANDITS LEAVE TRAIL OF ROBBERIES

Grocery Store, Bakery and Dairy Robbed by Vancouver Gunmen

BANK BRANCH HOLDUP CHECKED BY CLERKS

VANCOUVER, July 28 (CP).—Armed bandits were busy in the city today, and tonight the police calendar recorded the robbery of a grocery store, a bakery branch, a dairy and a frustrated attempt to rob a branch bank. In each instance the desperadoes escaped and tonight were still at large.

Following the raid on the Royal Bank branch at Oak Street and Sixteenth Avenue, shortly after noon, two armed men held up a Piggly Wiggly store on Main Street at 4:45 p.m., and after covering the manager, J. Jarvis, with revolvers, searched his pockets and robbed the cash register of $60. They then threatened Miss Nora Hymers, clerk in charge of the Canadian Window Bakery branch, in the same store, with guns, and robbed the second cash register of $9.50. The robbers escaped through a rear door and drove away in an automobile.

Discusses British Policy

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, left, yesterday reviewed in detail the tariff advantages Empire goods now enjoy in the British market and indicated what his country's policy might be in the future. Mr. Baldwin is shown with Sir Horace Wilson, chief adviser to the British delegation, on their arrival at Ottawa.

DETAILED STATEMENTS AWAIT INDICATION OF MUTUAL OFFERS

Great Britain and Dominions Expected to Declare Definite Policies at Ottawa After Learning Exact Nature of Quid Pro Quo in Projected Empire Trade Bargain

Baldwin Reviews in Detail Advantages Already Given

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP).—The Empire Conference moved forward to its climax. The statement—issued by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation today—while ostensibly a review of tariff advantages enjoyed by Empire goods in the British market—makes clear that the British delegation aims to secure:

1. Reductions in the rates of duty now imposed by the Dominions on British goods.
2. Curtailment of the power of customs authorities to impose arbitrary valuations for duty purposes.

Hold Vast Power in State of Prussia

Lord Mayor of Essen, whose appointment as Prussian Minister of the Interior and Deputy to Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany gives him practically unlimited power in Prussia, who will have to see that Von Papen's orders are carried out.

Conference Is Shaping To Success

OTTAWA, July 28.—"The conference is shaping like a success," observed Lord Hailsham, British Secretary for War, interviewed today. "We are all working very hard," he added.

"It is absolutely vital that this Ottawa conference should be a success," Lord Hailsham went on. "If it isn't, it may mean the breaking up of the Empire within my lifetime. And, of course, if the Empire goes, there is little hope for the world."

Can Great Britain give the full embargo asked for by Australia and Canada on Soviet wheat, lumber, etc.? Lord Hailsham was asked. "We may not be able to do all that we are asked, but we can certainly do something," Lord Hailsham replied.

HOPE FOR RECOVERY

Physicians are attending Crawford's injuries, and hope for his recovery is held. Details of the accident are lacking, but it is known Crawford and others were engaged in blasting at a new gold camp when some powder prematurely exploded.

Word of the accident was first received at Telegraph Creek over an amateur radio broadcasting set operated by George H. Lang, a Victoria, B.C., boy, in the McDame's Creek area.

TWO DIE IN PLANE CRASH

Four Others Injured When Seaplane Wrecked at Massed Review

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 28.—A giant seaplane crashed in San Diego Bay, drowning two and injuring four members of its crew, as 420 army, navy and marine corps planes took off today for a massed review in honor of 400 members of the National Editors' Association and other distinguished guests.

The seaplane crossed the wake of a small boat and swerved to one side as it gathered speed for its take-off. In swerving it struck the propeller wash of the squadron's lead plane. It rose a few feet but lost speed and ran into the bow of the United States Coastguard cutter Thetis.

Chief Photographer Eugene Anthony Auger and First-Class Machinist Marie Harry Allen were trapped in the wreckage and taken down in thirty feet of water. Allen was pulled out, but could not be revived. Auger's body was recovered later.

Lieutenant Anderson Offutt, pilot, sustained a broken leg, and three enlisted members of the crew were seriously injured. No one aboard the Thetis was injured.

SLOW PROGRESS IS ANTICIPATED

Currency Committee of Conference to Study Question of Commodity Prices

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP).—Representatives of the United Kingdom, the Dominions and India today discussed the decline in commodity prices and the instability of exchange rates. It was the first business meeting of the Imperial conference committee on monetary and financial questions.

"The discussions will continue tomorrow," so ran the brief official announcement following the meeting. It has already been intimated that, after an exchange of views, a subcommittee will be constituted to explore the details of currency, exchange and price declines.

TO PROCEED CAUTIOUSLY

That the committee will proceed very cautiously is the opinion in well-informed circles. While there is unanimity in one respect—that something should be done to raise commodity prices—some divergence of opinion as to how this may be accomplished exists. No indication that establishment of an Empire bank or currency is favored exists.

It seems probable that the position of the Canadian wheat farmer will be laid before the committee by Canada's delegates. He ships wheat to the British market, is paid for it in sterling, and must then make all his purchases in Canada on the basis of Canadian exchange.

HAD STOLEN CAR

The machine was later found abandoned in the 2200 block, East First Avenue, and taken to the police station. It was found to have been stolen from R. Root, Melville Street.

Met with a fusillade of shots from two revolvers in the hands of Manager G. E. Devereaux and W. C. Scott, teller, two young desperadoes were put to flight after they entered the Royal Bank branch at Oak and Sixteenth at 12:40 p.m. When the bandits pointed guns at the two members of the staff, the latter grabbed their revolvers, and Mr. Devereaux fired a shot through a window to attract attention. The bandits did not wait longer, but fled and fled as shots followed them in their flight. Once in the open the bandits entered an automobile and drove off at high speed. They did not return the fire.

DAIRY IS ROBBED

Half an hour later two men, believed to have been the same pair who attempted to rob the bank, entered the Primrose Dairy, on West and Broadway, and escaped with $40.

Troops Advance To Clear Bonus Marchers' Camp

Drawn Bayonets, Bombs and Tanks in Offensive Launched at Washington—One Shot Dead in Earlier Clash With Police—Infantrymen Set Fire to Campers' Huts

WASHINGTON, July 28.—An offensive against the Anacostia camp of the bonus marchers was launched tonight at 10:09 o'clock by infantrymen with drawn bayonets. The drive to clear the Anacostia camp saw infantrymen, among the first of the troops to arrive here, hurling tear gas bombs into a crowd that impeded their way.

The troops had been greeted by mingled cheers and boos from thousands of onlookers, many of them women and children.

Tear bombs were thrown indiscriminately to set people back. Women and children ran screaming.

GASES IN MINE FATAL TO FIVE

Boys Overcome When Exploring Old Workings—Rescuers Lose Lives

MINTO, N.B., July 28 (CP).—The adventurous spirit of youth, which urged a group of lads to explore an old coal mine today, led to the deaths of three boys and two men, and for a time threatened to exact a larger toll.

The dead, overcome by poisonous fumes, were Allen Gaudine, twelve; Cyril Stack, nine; Vernon Betts and Thomas Gallant. Others affected by the gas were reported to be out of danger tonight.

Betts and Gallant, both of whom leave families, sacrificed their lives in a vain effort to save the three young men.

EFFORTS WERE VAIN

With a fourth companion, Joseph O'Leary, the boys had been picking berries. Coming to the mine shaft, unused for several years, they decided to explore the area below, and by the gas were reported to be ignorant of "black damp," or accumulations of unbreathable gases.

The Stack brothers had only gone a few steps when they were overcome by the deadly fumes, and fell to the bottom of the fifty-foot shaft. O'Leary ran back to Minto, arousing the community.

FELL TO BOTTOM

Betts, Gallant, Bartholomew Stack, cousin of the dead brothers, and other men descended into the mine, but all were overcome by gas and fell unconscious to the bottom.

Ocean Flyer To Start on Aerial Tour

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP).—Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, a German flying boat, will leave the seaplane base at Longueuil tomorrow morning for Ottawa.

From Ottawa the flying boat will go to Chicago direct, Saturday. Prince Rupert was named as its Pacific Coast destination.

"After leaving Chicago," Von Gronau said, "our next stopping place will be near Winnipeg."

German Nationalist Head Sounds Strong Call for Kaiserism

Appeal Follows Attack by Hitler on Democracy—Huge Crowd Hears Nazi Leader—Hugenberg Urges Compulsory Military Training

BERLIN, July 28 (AP).—Adolf Hitler's threat that democracy in Germany must die within a few days was followed today by a strong call for "kaiserism" from Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the Nationalist party, which with Hitler's National Socialists is dedicated to putting Germany back in her "place in the sun."

PEACE EFFORTS NOT ACCEPTABLE

BUENOS AIRES, July 28 (AP).—Bolivia declined today to resume Chaco territory peace negotiations in Washington and a La Paz press dispatch said the Government would not accept the arbitration efforts of the "ABC" powers either.

An official statement from La Paz took note of two incidents of "Paraguayan aggression" in the Chaco during July and concluded with a reiteration that Bolivia could not continue the Washington negotiations "without disgrace."

Today's statement was in reply to the Washington neutrality commission composed of representatives of the United States, Mexico, Colombia, Cuba and Uruguay, which had asked Bolivia to recommit.

CROP PROSPECTS ARE FAVORABLE

MONTREAL, July 28 (CP).—"Crops in the Prairie Provinces are approaching maturity under generally favorable conditions, with more moisture required in the southern and central areas where heat has been intense," states the weekly crop report of the Bank of Montreal.

"Damage from hail and pests has not been extensive and the outlook in general continues favorable."

In British Columbia, the report says, crops are now developing rapidly, but will be one or two weeks later than usual.

Noted Engineer Dies in Cairo

CAIRO, July 28 (AP).—Sir William Wilcock, British engineer and projector and designer of the noted Egyptian Assuan Dam, died today of pneumonia.

He was former adviser to the Turkish Ministry of Public Works and created a sensation a number of years ago by declaring the Garden of Eden was situated north of Baghdad.

Vote of Loyalty to Smuts Gives Natal Secession Setback

Leader of South African Party Strengthens Position and Wins Great Personal Victory by Stirring Address at Meeting

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa, July 28 (CP).—General Jan Christian Smuts today won a great personal victory and strengthened his position as leader of the South African party when he finally disapproved of the activities of the Natal secessionist group.

So convincing was his speech that he was accorded a unanimous vote of loyalty by a large gathering of his party here.

PLAN RECEIVES SETBACK

The movement to form a Natal group with the South African party to let us agree to part in the Union of South Africa has received a serious setback as a result of General Smuts' statement.

"I say that rather than have such a group within the South African party let us agree to part in a friendly spirit," he declared.

The proposed group or party within a party would not be agreed to by the South African party as a whole or by me as leader.

EXPLAINS VIEWS

The veteran leader explained he did not object to the advocacy of federation as long as it carried out the views on that subject expressed by the party caucus. South Africa, unlike Canada and Australia, is not a federation but a legislative union. Smuts, "we can have devolution and the expansion of provincial powers to rehabilitate our system. No other course is open to us."

INDICATIONS OF RADIUM TRACED

In regard to the interest created recently in the announcement that indications of radium had been found in British Columbia, it is interesting to note that developments along this line are referred to by G. A. Clothier, resident mining engineer in Vancouver, in his report covering the first six months of the year made to the British Columbia Department of Mines.

He says that while nothing further of note has been done on the Gowland Harbor on Queen's Island, a little surface prospecting has disclosed small stringers of carnotite in the width of a knife blade up to a couple of inches in width.

It is proposed to survey the area by means of an electroprobe for the purpose of localizing the more radio-active areas, so that some work may be intelligently done toward developing the deposits, the department has been advised.

UNFAVORABLE REPORT

The report of Harry Townsend, an Alaskan mining engineer, was unfavorable to continuing prospecting. Butcher added, and the party's equipment will be disposed of within a short time.

The venture has proved a great disappointment, he declared.

The five planes made the long flight from the Michigan city by easy hope across Canada.

RHODESIA ASKS TOBACCO DUTY

Willing to Increase Preferences to Britain for Reciprocal Arrangement

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP).—Southern Rhodesia has offered Great Britain increased tariff preferences and will make similar advances to other Empire countries willing to reciprocate.

"The colony is prepared," says a statement prepared by H. W. Moffat, leader of the Rhodesian delegation at the Imperial Economic Conference, "to grant increased preferences on certain classes of British goods while making a reciprocal concession in return."

A schedule has been submitted of a revised tariff which makes provision for these increases. Similar consideration will be extended to other British countries which will reciprocate.

EXPORTABLE PRODUCTS

Rhodesia seeks increased markets for tobacco, citrus fruit, white maize, dairy products and eggs, asbestos, chrome, copper, and meat.

The tobacco preference granted by the United Kingdom, "has led to the use of increasing quantity of Empire leaf, including Rhodesian; but it has not been effective in reducing the existing figure of the consumption of foreign tobacco in the United Kingdom."

"It is felt," says the communique, "that an increase in the preference would lead to a quicker change from foreign to Empire leaf and to a diminution in the imports of foreign tobacco."

LIGHTNING SETS DWELLING AFIRE

NELSON, July 28.—Awakened by the sound of a crackling in the kitchen early this morning, John Horlick, South Shore resident, about a mile and a half from Troop Junction, found his home a mass of flames. It had been struck by lightning a few minutes before.

Opening the door to the kitchen, Mr. Horlick found a solid sheet of fire. He hastily grabbed his five-year-old son, Leslie, out of the house, and had only time to save one trunk of his entire household effects.

Paintings Hung in National Gallery Show Development

Works of Art Reveal Canada Endowed With Soul and Creative Appreciation of Finer Things of Life

OTTAWA, July 28 (CP).—Visitors at Ottawa during the Imperial Conference will want to know whether the country is doing as well in creative arts as it is in the production of wheat. It is to satisfy their curiosity that the National Gallery last week opened a retrospective exhibition of paintings and sculpture. And the work of Canadian artists is so well arranged, in several halls, that it is bound to achieve its purpose admirably.

The whole scheme hinges upon a compact show of the paintings of J. W. Morrice and Tom Thompson, two outstanding Canadians whose careers are now ended. The two divergent tendencies that divide Canadian art in pictorial art are thereby effectively set forth. The first, towards the French landscape painting of the Barbizon school, and the second towards a later sense of autonomy that has grown rapidly at the expense of the other.

CONTRAST IS IMPRESSIVE
Morrice characterizes the first tendency. He belongs to France and its expansive influence abroad.

MAKE REMARKABLE SHOW
The thirty Morrice canvases form a remarkable show in themselves. Their refinement and beauty are irresistible. They are from the hand of a great master of the French Impressionist school. Yet they belong to a world wider than France itself. Here are striking Quebec scenes; there, glimpses of the Coast of Normandy and Brittany; of Gibraltar; there, arresting vistas of Italy, Morocco and the Gulf of Mexico. Morrice obviously belongs to France, not to Canada. Even in the winter scenes of Quebec, the snow is warm and thawing. The habitants, with their blue "carrioles" and their massive stone houses, are reminiscent of Normandy.

Morrice knew the Canadian winters well, in his adolescence, since he was born in Montreal of Scotch-Canadian parents. He was an inveterate European, a Parisian by preference. He never was deeply interested in the land of his birth; and his restless soul was that of a nomad.

CONTRAST BREATH-TAKING
The very reverse can be said of the work of Tom Thompson, whose twenty canvases are exhibited in the other half of the same hall. The contrast is breath-taking. Here we turn boldly to the virgin forests of the North and the rugged shores of northern lakes. The air is cool, the sky is clear. A spectral glow bespeaks the Arctic, even through the leaves of mid-summer. The glory of Autumn foliage sings out a hymn of joy as has never been sung on canvas before. Here is the land of voyageurs, foresters and pioneers, a land of opportunity. The brush of Morrice never had touched it. Someone else must do it. Thompson and others like him endowed with a gift for pioneering.

Thompson's Jackpine stands like a symbol, that of a Canada emerged from the cocoon. It is loneliness at first sight, its branches are drooping and shaggy. But it is intense. A sombre and grandiose, it is decorative. Who will mistake it for French art? Its only fault is novelty. It answers the question: Has Canadian art anything of its own to say? The answer was "No" Thompson's "Yes" and they were both right. Canada can furnish a master painter like Morrice to Europe, and express the beauty of her own surroundings in terms unmistakably her own, as Thompson has.

ILLUSTRATES TREND
The "Jack Pine" illustrates the story of the Canadian art movement, a story short in time but none the less important. It stands for other Canadian paintings just as good and as typically Canadian as the National Gallery's collection. Among them Macdonald's "Solitude Land," Harris' "North Shore," Lake Superior," Lismer's "September," Galt's and Varley's "Georgian Bay."

Jackson, in this group, holds a position rather unique. A Montreal painter, trained mostly in the French tradition, he was a link between the old and the new, the East and the West, Montreal and Toronto. Moreover, he helped to endow Thompson with a technique. At first he was a European like Morrice, but he strongly espoused the cause of the new movement and became one of its leaders, with Harris, Lismer and Macdonald.

These are only a few of the master painters of the Canadian school, but there are many others of the younger generation, Holgate, Emery, Carr, Carmichael, Pepper, Casson, Yvonne McKague, Fitzgerald and so forth.

OTHER ARTISTS SEEN
There are also good painting and sculpture by other Canadian artists whose work leans towards European affiliations but is also enriched by local color: Gagnon, Robinson, Mabel May, Hewton, Mrs. Newton, Prudence Howard, Sarah Robertson, in painting, and in sculpture, Mrs. Beth Wood-Hahn, Florence Whyte, Frances Loring, Emmanuel Hahn, Sonnet and others.

This retrospective exhibition is indeed worth a visit, if not a pilgrimage. Not a few who see it will go back home satisfied that Canada is not only a wheat-growing country but is endowed with a soul and a creative appreciation of the finer things of life.

TABLET MARKS REMEMBRANCE
Canadian Minister to Tokio Unveils Memorial to Japanese of Canadian Army

TOKIO, July 9 (CP) (By Mail).—Tribute of the Japan Society of Vancouver, a memorial tablet has been unveiled here in memory of sixty-seven Japanese soldiers who lost their lives in the Great War while fighting under the Canadian colors. The dedication ceremony was simple but impressive.

Hon. Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Tokio, officiated at the unveiling in the presence of representatives of the Japanese War and Foreign Offices; Sir Francis Lindley, British Ambassador, Major-General Maeda, superintendent of the Imperial Military Museum, and Shinkichi Tamura, vice-president of the Japan-Canada Society, into the care of which the tablet was given.

INSCRIPTION ON TABLET
The tablet inscription reads: "In grateful remembrance of the Japanese members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who died in the World War, 1914-18."

Acting on behalf of the Japan Society of Vancouver, Mr. Marler presented the tablet. He recalled the erection of the Imperial Military Memorial Museum in honor of those who died fighting for their country. It was particularly appropriate, he added, that the memorial tablet should be erected in the Japanese temple which has been given their lives in their country's cause while fighting with Canada.

An ally, Mr. Marler recalled 240 Japanese had served in the Canadian forces during the 1914-18 conflict.

EXPRESSIVE REMEMBRANCE
Gladden in accepting the tablet was voiced by Mr. Tamura when receiving the tablet on behalf of the Japan-Canada Society. "Although the tablet has been directly given to our society, it has been meant for the whole people of Japan in order to express Canada's grateful remembrance of those Japanese subjects who fell in Canadian ranks," he added.

Among those attending the ceremony included Mrs. Marler, Count Soryama, Mr. and Mrs. Langley, K. P. Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Grew, J. P. Manion, A. K. Doull, F. M. Irwin and S. Kimura, of the Canadian Legation, Richard Hubert, president of the Canadian Association, and the military and naval attaches of the British Embassy.

A choir of 4,000 and an orchestra of 200 featured the Free Church Union Festival in London.

SENYTRY FINDS SINGING GHOST

Phantom Proves to Be Prison Trusty on Night Watch Duty

JOLIET, Ill., July 28.—The ghost of the convict's Potter's Field will croon no more.

A sentry posted by state penitentiary officers found the phantom singer in the quarry whence his melodies had floated up to an entranced and mystified audience.

William Chrysler is the phantom's name—a prison trusty on night watch duty in the stone quarry down behind the burying ground for convicts. The songs seemed to come from the little graveyard and had brought hundreds nightly in search of the ghost singer.

EXPLAINS TO GOVERNOR
Chrysler was brought before Col. Frank D. Whipp today.

"I have come down behind this old cemetery every morning," he explained, "to look at these pumps, and it's kind of spooky down there. It usually says something like 'Rock of Ages,' 'O God, Christian Soldiers' to cheer myself up."

Colonel Whipp suggested hymns be sung hereafter in the daylight hours as far away from the burying ground.

On future British policy, Mr. Baldwin gives only general indication. The representatives of the United Kingdom, he declared, "have entered this conference with the intention of making their contribution to a still further exchange of frank and open views."

He said the British government desires to secure further advantages in Dominion markets, and they will welcome the Dominions to an equally full statement of the corresponding advantages they seek in the market of Great Britain.

AN EARNEST DESIRE
The United Kingdom delegation will approach the examination of these statements as they are received, with an unprejudiced mind and, indeed, with an earnest desire to give effect to the wishes of the Dominions. And they are convinced that in their turn their views will be given equally favorable consideration.

Although the Australian statement is not mentioned, Mr. Baldwin's statement of today may, in a sense, be considered a rejoinder to that in which Mr. Bruce spoke of Great Britain's "tardy response" to what Australia had already done.

Baldwin's statement. The proportion of imports from the Dominions which still enjoys entry into Great Britain, in some cases exceeds 80 per cent.

Since Britain changed her fiscal policy, only 30 per cent of her imports from foreign countries enjoy free entry.

NO FREE ENTRY
In the case of imports from the United Kingdom into the four principal Dominions, there is today no free entry; that is to say, a duty or tax of some kind is charged on almost all goods imported into those Dominions.

The proportion of the greater part of the preferential list of the preference accorded by the United Kingdom is in the form of a total remission of the duty payable by foreign goods.

The visible trade balance in favor of the Dominions is nearly one hundred million pounds sterling.

The British rate of duty charged should be so graduated as to give to the products of the United Kingdom a reasonable chance of competing on even terms with the rate of duty against United Kingdom products should be fixed for protective purposes no higher than is necessary to give a reasonably efficient industry in the Dominion a fair chance.

BRITAIN'S VITAL NEED
The statement emphasizes the vital need to Great Britain of her export trade. It has been estimated that a quarter million of unemployed "The United Kingdom," adds the figures, "has been doing her share in encouraging the trade and industries of the Dominions; she takes a very large production of Dominion exports, for many of which there would be no other outlet available in the world; she has consistently made it easy for these exports to enter her ports on the best possible terms and with the least possible interference by government policy or by customs duty; she has been eager to give the Dominion in every case in which she has found it possible to build up a substantial visible balance of trade."

SEATTLE, July 28.—Ted Bradley, an ally, Mr. Bradley recalled 240 Japanese had served in the Canadian forces during the 1914-18 conflict.

EXPRESSIVE REMEMBRANCE
Gladden in accepting the tablet was voiced by Mr. Tamura when receiving the tablet on behalf of the Japan-Canada Society. "Although the tablet has been directly given to our society, it has been meant for the whole people of Japan in order to express Canada's grateful remembrance of those Japanese subjects who fell in Canadian ranks," he added.

Among those attending the ceremony included Mrs. Marler, Count Soryama, Mr. and Mrs. Langley, K. P. Kirkwood, Mr. and Mrs. Grew, J. P. Manion, A. K. Doull, F. M. Irwin and S. TO BUILD BLOCK ON NEWPORT AVE.
Oak Bay Will Have Modern Building of Artistic Design for Stores and Apartments

The permit for the new block on the corner of Newport Avenue and Windsor Road, Oak Bay municipality, has been taken out and the building to cost, it is estimated, $17,000, will be proceeded with. It is some months since this building was suggested, but following delay has a frontage of 60 feet on Newport and 120 feet on Windsor Road. There will be five stories on the ground floor, with four commodious apartments above. The plans have been prepared by Major K. B. Spurgin and J. G. Johnson, architects. The building will be erected under contract by E. Hume & Son.

GERMAN NATIONALIST HEAD SOUNDS STRONG CALL FOR KAISERISM

STERNEST AND BEST
"Compulsory military training always has been the sternest and the best school for the German man," he said.

Although Nationalists and Hitlerites are united in their demand that Germany be re-established in her old power, they are far from political unity, as Dr. Hugenberg indicated by making a jibe at the Nazi brownshirts.

LET'S NOT IMITATE OTHER COUNTRIES
"Let's not imitate other countries," he said. "That applies also to our-day things like uniforms and salutes."

URGES CLEAR MAJORITY
Solution to Germany's problems, the Nationalist leader said, lies in giving the Nationalists and the National Socialists a clear majority in the Reichstag.

In his Berlin Stadium speech Herr Hitler said: "We must sweep the international political parties out of the country. We Germans must be a united people."

NEW CLASH REPORTED
LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 28 (AP).—Bolivian authorities today reported a new clash in the long disputed Chaco territory, between Bolivia and Paraguay. It was said fifty Paraguayan soldiers attacked the Bolivian Fort Florida, but were repulsed.

hold off from a forceful attack on the Anacostia camp for an hour, to allow the "bonus" expeditionary force" to evacuate, plans to proceed tonight were abandoned.

General Miles announced the troops would await orders for further action tomorrow.

HOLDING THEIR GROUND
It was but a matter of minutes when the orders arrived from "higher up," as it was put by army men, to call off the attack for the night. Despite the orders, the troops held their ground.

The number of troops employed during the day was placed by the War Department at "not more than 700." Three troops of cavalry, comprising about 300 men, and a battalion of infantry, consisting of about 350, comprised the force. In reserve at nearby Fort Myer, Virginia, were 1,400 additional troops.

Complete destruction of the camp Anacostia—largest of the bonus marchers' encampments—appeared likely later tonight when fire set by the veterans themselves broke out over the area.

ONE SHOT DEAD
One unidentified veteran was shot dead and another seriously wounded in rioting between bonus seekers and police near the Capitol today, and troops were ordered out in the direction of President Hoover.

A bullet through the heart was the one that killed, when police opened fire upon veterans who were advancing toward them.

Another bonus marcher is in serious condition with a bullet wound in the neck and lower abdomen. Doctors said his recovery was doubtful. Several other bonus marchers were treated for lesser injuries inflicted by brickbats.

Several police were injured, one, Private Scott, being reported to have died from a blow by a brickbat that hit him in the head. The report, which could not be verified immediately, aroused the police to anger in the minutes before the rioting that led to the shooting.

WILL CARRY ON
WASHINGTON, July 28.—From Walter W. Waters, of Portland, Ore., the titular commander of the "Bonus Expeditionary Force," came the assertion tonight that "no matter what may happen from now on, the B.E.F. will carry on."

He said, "I have been in Washington, he said, "It will organize elsewhere and continue the fight for justice for the veterans and the common people of the United States. We have gone too far now to quit."

STERNEST AND BEST
"Compulsory military training always has been the sternest and the best school for the German man," he said.

Although Nationalists and Hitlerites are united in their demand that Germany be re-established in her old power, they are far from political unity, as Dr. Hugenberg indicated by making a jibe at the Nazi brownshirts.

LET'S NOT IMITATE OTHER COUNTRIES
"Let's not imitate other countries," he said. "That applies also to our-day things like uniforms and salutes."

URGES CLEAR MAJORITY
Solution to Germany's problems, the Nationalist leader said, lies in giving the Nationalists and the National Socialists a clear majority in the Reichstag.

In his Berlin Stadium speech Herr Hitler said: "We must sweep the international political parties out of the country. We Germans must be a united people."

CHARGED WITH DEATH SWINDLE
Frenchman Arranged Own Funeral to Collect Insurance

PARIS, July 28 (BUP).—The trial of Louis Durand, who staged his own funeral and looked on at the ceremony, is taking place at Lyons.

Durand simulated death in order to obtain 150,000 francs, about $2,500, from an insurance company. According to a statement which he made in court, the idea for the swindle came to him one day after he had had sunstroke during exercises.

He took twelve cachets of quinine to send up his temperature. Two doctors examined the patient, whose state was apparently extremely grave. The next day his accomplice, a woman, went to one of them and said that Durand had died during the night. In view of the condition the invalid had been in the previous day, the doctor signed the death certificate.

REALISTIC CORPSE
With his hands and face covered with fine chalk, dressed in his best suit, and surrounded by candles, Durand made a realistic corpse, and his relatives came to pay their last respects, in the full belief that their dear one had "departed" forever.

Finally came the moment for placing the "body" in the coffin. Pretending that her family's religion required complete privacy for this rite, the woman persuaded the undertaker's man to leave her alone in the room.

PUT DUMMY IN COFFIN
Immediately the "deceased" jumped up, helped her to put a dummy in the coffin, and then hid the real body in a closet. The coffin was sealed and the funeral cortege set off for the cemetery without being aware of the fact that the defunct was looking on from a hotel window. The burial took place in a normal manner.

One year after his "death" Durand was recognized and arrested by the Lyons police.

As the result of a grab bite, Mrs. Annie Cook has died at Derby, England.

On the fourth morning the mistress of the house felt that it was time to speak to her on the subject of punctuality.

"Whatever the matter, ma'am?" asked Jane. "I'm only doing what it said in the advert—Maid wanted to sleep in."

Sinclair Makes Way Into Real China and Asserts He Likes It

Falls Into Bad Hands on Shanghai Bund But Is Rescued by the Military and Passes Barbed Wire Barricades

SHANGHAI.—The Bund of Shanghai is the most famous and notorious waterfront in the world. Famed for banks, bills, bandits, buccaniers, brawls, bawls, bedlam and ballyhoo. It's the upstart of the East. A place of confusion and confusion. A place of confusion and confusion. A place of confusion and confusion.

GORDON SINCLAIR

There were story-tellers sitting around telling fabulous tales of far away and the kiddies asked if I'd give them a copper so they could hear the man, so I squatted with my feet crossed and told them whatever it was about. After the story was finished, a fat old woman waddled in with a pole on her shoulder and a basket of fish. She moaned a song about the goldfish, which were mostly bulging eyes and, to my dismay picked them up one after another and ate them alive.

After a while I started to feel around for a way out. There was a man ahead of me with nifty metal things hanging from a pole. He was screaming at the top of his voice, and a woman who followed was carrying along the same time. As I went into a place for a sandwich, a cigarette burned a hole through my coat. This is the real China, this I'm going to like it. Suck around.

Zane Grey, Noted Author, Will Come Here for Fishing

Zane Grey, world-renowned author, whose books of romance have thrilled lovers of the great outdoors, where men are men and the play is close to nature, is coming to Victoria, shortly on his way to Campbell River, the land of big timber, where he will enjoy his favorite pastime—fishing, and probably absorb some nature in the raw.

As an ardent fisherman, Zane Grey will find at Campbell River the best Vancouver Island has to offer in the way of sport fishing. He has a deadly fly is no mere boast, his closest friends say, and he takes the keenest enjoyment out of a day's fishing with the big ones. It is not so long ago that he wrote "Tales of Fishing in the Sea," "Tales of the Angler's El Dorado" and "Tales of Swordfish and Tuna."

FISHERY LAWS BEING BROKEN

A. G. Bolton Tells Rotarians Streams and Lakes Ruined by Offenders

The disregard of game and fish laws in some parts of the Province of British Columbia is simply appalling, A. G. Bolton, chairman of the game and fish conservation committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, stated in an address to the Rotary Club, at the Empress Hotel yesterday, Mr. Bolton is also an official of the fisheries department of the Government.

In the course of his remarks on game and fish conservation, Mr. Bolton said it had come to his notice that persons had been engaged in dynamiting fish in the streams on Vancouver Island by means of carbide and that another group had used lime as a means of chasing fish into nets thrown across streams. Every effort, he said, was being made to capture the offenders, but so far without success. He asked: "Of what use are the laws of the Dominion and Provincial Governments if they are not enforced?"

FISH DISAPPEARING

In his address to the Rotarians, Mr. Bolton explained a number of the supposed reasons for the depletion of game fish in the lakes and streams of the province. Some, he said, blamed the motor car; but he believed that the development of natural resources, particularly mining and lumbering, had a lot to do with it. When the natural watersheds are stripped of their growth, there is nothing to retain the excess of moisture, and the result is that the streams are carried away, and with it the food upon which the fish thrive.

GOVERNMENT AIDING

The provincial and Dominion Governments were doing all possible to conserve the game fish of the province, Mr. Bolton said, and in support of this he quoted a number of figures to show the enormous quantity of fry that had been placed in the lakes and streams in British Columbia. As an example of what citizens could do to assist in the conservation of the game fish, he mentioned one in particular at Cranbrook, where an association is operating to show the enormous quantity of fry that had been placed in the lakes and streams in British Columbia.

RETAINS POSITION

The Chief Justice ordered Mr. Martin to retain his official position as co-guardian of the children, but he would not attempt to bring the children back to Canada and thereby interrupt their education in England, which, he declared, appeared to be progressing satisfactorily. The Chief Justice said he could quite understand the position of Mrs. Bullen in asking for Mr. Martin's removal, as she would naturally be perturbed as to the future. There was no hint that Mr. Martin had failed to carry out his duties in connection with his guardianship.

Awarded Stay of Court Proceeding In $18,000 Suit

H. W. R. Moore, counsel for W. J. Taylor, K.C., and others, secured a stay of execution of a judgment awarded Edward Hodgson in Supreme Court here recently for approximately $18,000. An order to stay proceedings to enforce the judgment was given yesterday by Chief Justice Morrison in Supreme Court Chambers.

Mr. Moore intimated to the Chief Justice that it was the intention to appeal to the Appeal Court of British Columbia against the judgment of the Supreme Court bench. In the meantime the stay of execution of the judgment will prevent the disposal of the properties in litigation until after the appeal has been disposed of.

D. S. Tait, counsel for Mr. Hodgson, intimated it was the desire of his client to hold the properties as security for costs already incurred in the Supreme Court action. Mr. Moore agreed to pledge the property as security for costs and also agreed to place $200 for Appeal Court costs.

ACTIVE WOMAN WORKER DIES

Mrs. C. W. Rhodes Passes Suddenly—Irreparable Loss to Jubilee Hospital

MRS. CHARLES W. RHODES

Victoria lost one of her most public-spirited citizens yesterday with the death of Mrs. Charles W. Rhodes, of 1024 Terrace Avenue, noted for many years as a keen worker in the interests of the Jubilee Hospital. Mrs. Rhodes passed away suddenly early yesterday morning as the result of a heart seizure on Tuesday evening which was of such obviously serious nature that she was removed at once to the hospital. Her daughter, Miss Ethel Rhodes, R.N., who was summoned from Seattle, arrived just too late to be with her at the end.

The remains will repose on Saturday at the residence on Terrace Avenue until 2:15 p.m., when the funeral cortege will proceed to Christ Church Cathedral, where services will be held at 2:30 o'clock. The remains will be forwarded to Vancouver for cremation. Interment will later be made at Ross Bay Cemetery here. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company is in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Rhodes was born on April 18, 1889, in Folom, California, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Brown. She first came to Victoria in 1896 as a bride, her husband, the late Charles W. Rhodes, who died about twenty years ago, being the manager for many years of the Brackman-Ker Milling Company. They took up their residence on Terrace Avenue immediately on arrival here, and Mrs. Rhodes continued to make her home there until the last.

INTEREST IN HOSPITAL
Keenly interested in hospital welfare, Mrs. Rhodes became identified with the Jubilee Hospital very soon after her arrival here, and for nearly thirty years had been one of its most enthusiastic champions. Recognition of this was given practical expression when she was elected a member of the board of directors as a representative of the subscribers in 1907, twenty-six years ago, holding office continuously ever since. Still earlier she was elected president of the Women's Auxiliary, which under her unflinching leadership became one of the most important sources of practical assistance to the hospital.

It was under her regime that the auxiliary projected its remarkable campaign to raise funds for the building of a new wing, a work temporarily frustrated by the intervention of the Great War. When the project was finally consumated, Mrs. Rhodes and the auxiliary again threw their whole-hearted support into the undertaking, and gave the board invaluable assistance with the furnishing and other matters.

CONTINUES WORK

Even after she resigned her office in the Women's Auxiliary four years ago, Mrs. Rhodes continued to give assistance with advice. One of her outstanding undertakings in the hospital's behalf in recent years was the organization of the big tombola, for which she herself secured most of the prizes.

To all her hospital colleagues and associates, as well as her very large circle of personal friends, the news of her death has carried a sense of personal loss. In addition to her hospital activities, she was for many years an active member of Gonzales Chapter, I.O.D.E.

In addition to her daughter, Miss Ethel Rhodes, there survive two granddaughters in England, and a brother, P. M. Brown, living in Alaska. A second daughter, Mrs. Sturrock (Mabel) died just two years ago.

TRIBUTES PAID

Warm tribute to the wonderful work accomplished by Mrs. Rhodes was paid by H. H. Shandley, president of the Jubilee board of directors: "In the deeply-regretted death of Mrs. Rhodes, the Jubilee Hospital has suffered an irreparable loss. Year in and year out she worked indefatigably for the hospital, whose cause she had so dearly at heart. Never shall we be able to find anyone who will give so generously and lavishly of their time and energy in the interests of the hospital as Mrs. Rhodes has for the last quarter of a century."

In expressing the feelings of the Women's Auxiliary of the Jubilee Hospital in the passing of Mrs. C. W. Rhodes, Mrs. W. A. Chambers, the president, said: "The name of Mrs. Rhodes has been associated with the Auxiliary for so many years, that it will be a long time before we fully realize that she has left us to carry on the work she did for a quarter of a century. Her interest and enthusiasm in all hospital affairs were always an inspiration to us, and every member feels too deeply for words the loss of one who was always ready to do all that was possible for hospital welfare. Her sudden passing leaves us with a real sense of bereavement."

WAS BURIED YESTERDAY

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Harriet Hawkins, who passed away at the family residence, 788 Hillside Avenue, on July 25. Rev. J. H. A. Warr officiated. The pallbearers were S. Homer, J. E. Braden, C. Newman, Sidney Child, C. M. Cookston and J. Bromley. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

OAK BAY AIDED HOSPITAL WELL

Municipality More Than Paid for All Indigent Cases From That Area

The report of the financial situation of the Royal Jubilee Hospital for the first six months of the present year, as presented to the Oak Bay Council at its meeting last night, showed that Oak Bay by its per diem and proportion of extra grant had contributed to the hospital in the period specified, 137.1 per cent of the services rendered the indigent cases from Oak Bay. It was pointed out by the hospital that Oak Bay was the only municipality with a favorable balance in this regard.

The standing of the other municipalities was shown under this head to have been as follows: City, 78.2 per cent; Saanich, 45.8 per cent; and Esquimalt, 45.3 per cent. The hospital finances showed that the proportion of indigent patients treated at the institution was, in the time specified, 42.8 per cent. There had been received in hospital fees, from all patients, $143,186.60. Oak Bay has contributed a total of $12,633.85.

DELIGHTFUL PICNIC ENJOYED BY STAFF EMPLOYEES AT LAKE

Wednesday afternoon goes down as a red letter day in the annals of the Metropolitan Stores Ltd., the occasion being its annual staff picnic. Glorious weather favored the expedition and the entire staff, thirty strong, assembled at Elk Lake to participate in a varied programme of sports and races.

One of the most spectacular events of the day was a tug o' war, teams being selected by the manager and the assistant manager, the honors going to the senior rank after a hard-fought struggle.

Supper was served at the grounds, being a delicious array of dainties provided by the ladies of the staff. J. R. Sharp, manager of the Metropolitan Stores Ltd., took an active part in the arrangements and all voted the affair an outstanding success.

TIME PAYMENTS ARE ALLOWABLE

Provincial Income Tax Returns Reach 36,500—At Halfway Mark

Up to early this week 36,500 provincial income tax notices had been mailed by the provincial collector's staff, about half of the total volume of tax bills that will be sent out this year. Approximately twice as many citizens as in 1931 will be called on to pay provincial income taxes this year, though the incomes on which the taxes are to be paid may be less.

Provincial officials explained yesterday that while payment of income tax bills becomes due thirty days after receipt of the account, reasonable instalments will be accepted by the department. The regulations provide for payment of one-quarter of the amount at once, and the balance within nine months, on a progressive basis. In actual practice it was learned the Government will accept any reasonable instalment charging interest on deferred payments.

DEDUCTIONS LESS

Married men, who under the 1932 amendments to the provincial income tax regulations were promised material relief in comparison with their single brethren, must wait another year for this difference to show.

Many who had counted off the deduction of the 1 per cent tax against last year's income forgot that the deduction was made only for a period of some nine months, and not the full year. Instead of a credit equivalent to twelve months' deductions, therefore, many had to be reminded that the 1 per cent had not been collected in the first quarter of last year. Next year, irrespective of the level of taxation, married taxpayers will be relatively favored.

REMAINING NOTICES

Mailing of the remainder of the tax notices will take a considerable time yet, due to the large amount of clerical work involved. Due dates, in consequence, will range through a series of weeks to come, and some bills may not become due and payable until the early fall.

Where payments are made by cheques, these should be made out to the provincial collector.

Famed Canadian Artists to Be Heard Tonight

Internationally famed Canadian artists will be heard over the radio in a gala concert broadcast from Ottawa at 5:30 o'clock tonight. The programme will be transmitted across the continent by Canadian National telegraphs and will be heard in Victoria over station CFCB from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

The artists will include Miss Eva Gauthier, one of Canada's famous singers, accompanied by Wilfred Pelletier, Canadian conductor of the Metropolitan Opera in New York.

Miss Ellen Ballon, pianist of note, Allan Burt, well-known baritone, and a string quartet composed of Bytown Troubadours will assist with salute to His Excellency on arrival at the Capitol Theatre where the Sunberg, Boris Hambourg and Mil-band of the Governor-General's concert is to be held.

Chevrolet Sedan Driven From Victoria to Nanaimo Twice and Return to Prove Unmatched Economy of Canada's Popular Low-Priced Car

Yesterday afternoon a stock 1932 Chevrolet Sedan completed a grueling run, twice to Nanaimo and return, once in Conventional gear, once with Free Wheeling, proving to Victorians what this amazing new car could average per gallon of gasoline, and the true saving of Free Wheeling.

This economy run over the Island Highway shows why business houses and those who analyze motoring costs have chosen Chevrolet. Actual sales figures show Chevrolet far in the lead for 1932.

See this car and remember that the Chevrolet Six costs less for gasoline, oil and upkeep than any other full-sized car. In addition, the Chevrolet Six gives you MORE ACTUAL HORSEPOWER in the normal driving range, balanced power for quick acceleration and effortless speed.

FIND SKELETON OF PROSPECTOR

Disappearance of Hazelton Man in 1924 May Be Cleared Up Shortly

Solving, in part at least, the disappearance of two British Columbia prospectors in 1924, Provincial Police headquarters yesterday were in receipt of a wireless report from Inspector W. E. Spiller, Prince George, telling of the finding of the skeleton of a man believed to have been one of the missing pair. The bones were found by a British Columbia police patrol which went through the Cariboo district in June last. The remains have been removed to Prince George.

In 1924, Charles McLean and Otto Saunders, prospectors of Hazelton, reached Cariboo Creek and attempted to raft down the stream. Saunders was lost, and McLean attempted to get through to civilization after a vain effort to find his companion. McLean is believed to have died of exposure, leaving a widow at home. The Provincial Police made a probe search at the site at the time, but were unsuccessful.

REMAINS DISCOVERED

Last winter, a trapper moving over the same area, Ludwig Simaslet, found the skeleton of human remains on Cariboo Creek, nine miles from its mouth, where it empties into the Pelly River. This was in October, 1931. Engaged for some time in the bush, Simaslet sent out word by Frank Weber, another trapper, who reported to the authorities in February last. The police patrol in the area, held by reason of winter conditions, reached the site in June, to confirm the discovery reported.

The patrol was made by Constable S. of the Prince George division of the force, who reported discovery of a rifle, a gold watch and an Odd Fellow's button, beside the remains. He believed that the remains were those of the missing prospectors. Charles McLean, inquiry into the circumstances of the case will proceed at Prince George shortly.

WILL MAKE BID FOR CONVENTION

District Council of Legion Recommends Victoria as 1933 Con-ference City

A well-attended meeting of the Victoria District Council of the Canadian Legion was held in the Britannia Branch clubrooms last evening. The delegates to the coming provincial convention of the Legion at Revelstoke were instructed to recommend that Victoria be chosen as the site for the 1933 convention, and that all organizations and clubs be asked to co-operate to this effect.

The formation of a Legion band was also discussed at some length, and it was finally decided that a committee consisting of J. J. Blair, W. Dalway, C. A. Gill, J. G. Shaw, M. Gray, C. J. Skittles, P. de W. Taylor and W. W. Appy should make a further report on the matter.

The celebration which will take place at Nanaimo on August 4 received the hearty support of the members of the council, and a special effort is to be made to have a large local representation present.

Announcements

Vanity should not be confused with self-respect. It is an inordinate value upon possessions, real or imaginary; whereas self-respect is an appreciation, not only of the dignity of one's being, but it is also an expression of one's love of beauty and order; therefore, surely it is justifiable to try and look as presentable as possible. Any woman or "teen-age" girl who feels she can spare an hour or two on that day will be doing a very good deed, and Mrs. W. D. Todd, Empire 2139, will be glad to assign a corner. Headquarters will be at 1211 Douglas Street.

Tradesmen Summoned—A number of Victoria tradesmen were summoned before Acting Magistrate C. J. Prior, in city police court yesterday morning, for failure to pay trade licences. A number of them were given time in which to conform with the provisions of the act. Upwards of sixty were summoned to appear, but the number who actually appeared was greatly reduced by tradesmen paying the required fees.

School Closes Today—The International Community Vacation School, which has been in progress at the Metropolitan Church for the past few weeks, will close this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when special exercises will mark the occasion. The children who have attended the school will present a programme and will show samples of their work. Sees Threat to American Labor In Negotiations

United States Writer Says Increase in Empire Content of Manufactured Goods Will Hit at Vitals of His Country's Industrial Life—Would Decrease Opportunities

OTTAWA, July 28.—A definite threat to America is stalking through the deliberations of the Imperial Economic Conference. Linked with a broadening of the American branch factory movement in Canada, it will hit at the very vitals of American industrial life, and, if consummated, may result in a serious decrease in labor opportunities for American workmen.

Of all steps which might be taken by the conference, this is regarded as the most harmful from the American viewpoint, since when you strike at labor, a body blow has been dealt the purchasing power of a vast cross-section of a people. Decreased purchases mean decreased production, and a slowing down of the entire machinery of distribution.

The conference action which may bring about such disastrous results is that increasing the specified Empire content of goods imported into British countries. Such restrictions, which state that before goods may be imported into an Empire country a certain proportion of a given commodity must have been of Empire manufacture, already are in effect, but the desire of the conference is to broaden their scope.

EFFECT OF INCREASE
Tariff walls and the Empire content requirement were factors which led to the establishing by American industrialists of more than a thousand branch plants in Canada. Incorporated as Canadian institutions, these branch plants have been able to hurdle the Canadian tariff wall and sell their output to the Canadian people, as well as sell it in the Empire markets. As the Empire content requirements increased, the American plants increased the proportion of their given commodities actually manufactured in Canada.

Now comes the proposal to standardize and further boost the Empire content specifications for all the British Dominions. This can have but one effect, and that is to increase the amount of work which actually is being done in Canada by the branch plants on the commodities they produce. True, profits may still continue to pour into American coffers, but the return to labor will be entirely Canadian, and the more opportunity for labor is given the Canadian, the less the American will have.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY
Take automobiles as a concrete example. Early in the branch factory movement, American automobile manufacturers having plants in Canada satisfied Empire content requirements by the mere assembling of their machines in Canada. Parts which went into that assembling were manufactured in the United States and imported into the Dominion. If the Empire content requirement is increased, it will simply mean, in the case of automobiles, that the parts which formerly were imported from the United States will have to be manufactured actually in Canada.

So far, the steps to increase the Empire content requirements are merely preliminary, but when it is realized that there are more than 1,050 American branch plants in Canada, and that the standardized specified Empire content for all British countries will be made 50 per cent or more, the effect becomes apparent. A subcommittee of the all-important conference committee on the promotion of trade within the Commonwealth is now studying the matter.

FROM TWO ANGLES
The discussion is progressing from two angles: Whether it will be more advantageous to specify a high Empire content with exceptions downward on certain commodities which the Empire does not produce, or to make the rule one of low Empire content, with exceptions upward.

There is no general agreement as yet among the British Dominions on the Empire content question. Great Britain herself requires that 25 per cent of a commodity be manufactured in Great Britain and have them designated "Empire goods." There are certain exceptions to this in British law, one of which makes the Empire content on optical goods 75 per cent. Canada's Empire content requirement is already 50 per cent on certain commodities, but sets it at only 33.3 per cent on cotton yarns. The requirements of Australia are 75 per cent; New Zealand, 50 per cent; South Africa, 25 per cent, and the Irish Free State, 25 per cent.

GASES IN MINE FATAL TO FIVE

When gas masks and respirators arrived from Fredericton, rescuers attached gas masks and all the bodies were hauled to the surface. The three boys were beyond aid, and Betts and Gallant could not be revived. Frantic resuscitation work finally succeeded in the other cases.

WOMAN CONDUCTS BAND
For the first time in England a woman recently conducted a regimental band. She is Miss Susan Spain-Dunk, the composer, and she led the Royal Artillery Band at the Royal Artillery Theatre, at Woolwich, England. "The Royal Artillery Band," Miss Spain-Dunk explained, "is a full symphonic orchestra with strings. Captain Stretton, the bandmaster, is a great friend of mine, and has frequently asked me to let him play, so when I sent him my overture, 'André's Weald,' based on old Kentish melodies, he suggested that I should conduct it. When the colonel of the regiment was approached he was enthusiastic." Miss Spain-Dunk is a professor at the Royal Academy of Music, and has conducted many of her own orchestral works in London.

Convicted of Stealing by Clay on Tire

VANCOUVER, July 28.—Expert evidence of J. F. C. B. Vance, city analyst, brought the conviction in police court of George Thompson on a charge of stealing an auto tire. He was sentenced to six months in jail.

Detective W. Latimer and Constable C. Cameron testified to finding the tire in the vicinity of a room occupied by Thompson and two others. The officers said that they found wet clay on the tire, then noted the same kind of material on Thompson's shoes. The footwear of the other two men was dry.

Mr. Vance said he had analyzed the clay on both shoes and tire and found them to be identical in composition. The same kind of clay was found near the car from which the tire had been stolen.

DISTRICT IS IN HEALTHY STATE

Dr. W. P. Walker Remarks Upon the Excellent Conditions in Oak Bay

Dr. W. P. Walker, medical health officer of Oak Bay, in his report as to the health of the district for the half year ending June 30, called attention to the state of health of the children of the public schools, and in doing so, said: "If one compares their condition today with that existing in 1912, and at any time subsequently, it may be justly claimed that their general well-being is higher today than it has ever been. They are better housed, better clad, and better nourished, and contagious disease is practically nonexistent."

He reported the entire absence of any infectious diseases requiring admission to the isolation hospital during the year. Dr. Walker called attention of parents in his report to the need of greater care to guard carefully children suffering from what might be regarded as mild cases of measles.

"It is not sufficiently well known that measles may occur without a rash, and when the disease is prevalent parents should summon their physicians to children exhibiting symptoms of bronchitis, for skilled attention may avert the danger from extension of inflammation to the substance of the lungs and the development of broncho-pneumonia, a complication which is the usual cause of death in fatal cases," said the report.

"Too often a child with broncho-pneumonia following measles, and obviously severely ill, is left undisturbed and sunken in the bed, when stimulating treatment and frequent change of position are necessary for recovery. And it should be widely known that lungs damaged by measles are particularly prone to become affected by pulmonary tuberculosis," Dr. Walker stated.

Domestic Science Teacher Appointed By Esquimalt Body

Miss M. Scott, of Victoria, was appointed teacher of domestic science in Esquimalt schools, at a meeting of the municipal school board last night, when many applications for the position were considered.

Routine business matters only were on the agenda, these including the passing of the monthly accounts, totaling $356.80 and the authorizing of their payment, and the payment of $20 as the annual membership fee for the British Columbia School Trustees' Association. It was learned that Melior Bros.' workmen have commenced kalsomining and painting a number of rooms in the public and high schools, which will be completed before the opening of the next term.

Results of the matriculation and entrance examinations, submitted by the Provincial Department of Education, were received and filed.

Placer Gold Drew Many to B.C. Bars In Northern Area

Reports of Resident Engineers to B.C. Department of Mines Give Interesting Summary of Conditions Found—New Discoveries

Interesting light on placer prospecting in various parts of the province is given in the reports of district mining engineers, in the annual report of the British Columbia Department of Mines. New discoveries of coarse gold are described by Douglas Lay, provincial resident mining engineer, as a feature of the results of prospecting during the first six months of the present year in the Cariboo, Mason Creek and other parts of the northwest section of the province.

He states that these districts are being searched intensively by an army of prospectors, experienced and inexperienced. The discoveries of the year are declared to be a great tribute to the prospector, demonstrating the possibilities still offering in these placer fields.

NEW DISCOVERIES

Among the new finds in the Cariboo and Quesnel regions he details the following:

"On Skaret Creek, tributary of Taylor Creek, eight miles east of St. George, discovery of coarse bedrock gold by P. Skaret, on Terry Creek, on ground owned by F. German and G. Lahl, discovery by the latter of coarse gold on a false bedrock underlying that on which was the concentration that engaged the attention of early workers, on Gagen Creek, tributary of Lightning Creek on the south side of the latter, about five and one-half miles above Cottonwood House, discovery by G. C. Gagen of coarse gold on bedrock; at the Canyon mine, Terry Channel of the Fraser River on the west bank of the latter, sixteen miles from Quesnel, discovery of coarse gold by S. R. Craft; below the Quesnel-Barkerville road by 'Lovers' Leap' a short distance from the road on the bank of Lightning Creek, discovery of coarse gold by Swan Ackerbade, probably resulting from a high channel trending across Lightning Creek; on Nigger Creek, flowing into Cariboo Lake (this creek is known locally as Pine Creek), discovery by W. Hamilton and associates. With the exception of the last-mentioned, all these discoveries have been inspected."

SOME NEW WAGES

Dealing with the average earnings of the placer miner, Mr. Lay says that, while it is difficult to give an approximation, individual earnings reported by those who have been fortunate enough to make discoveries of coarse gold during the year amount to as high as $6 per day per man, of course, quite exceptional, and apply to a comparatively short period.

Average earnings are far less. An average of $2 per day would undoubtedly be considered satisfactory by the majority of experienced prospectors. The inexperienced, inevitably finding difficulty in securing sufficient gold to cover the cost of living. However, in spite of the very large number of prospectors now in the field, few cases of actual distress have come to notice.

STRAY TOO FAR

A word of advice to the inexperienced prospector is given by Mr. Lay when he warns them against going to far-distant creeks. Much expense is involved in getting to such places, where the cost of living is very high and where the difficulties are greatly accentuated in every respect. He adds that results confirm the view that the placer sections closely adjacent to transportation are far from being worked out, and opportunities both for the experienced and inexperienced are still good.

Those lacking experience are advised to grasp what opportunities are offered by associating themselves with the experienced, and the latter very earnestly asked to lend a hand in the advice.

Placer areas adjacent to transportation and suggestions to those interested in this line of activity are outlined by Mr. Lay as follows:

SUGGESTIONS MADE

(1) The country between the Willow and Fraser Rivers, west of the former. False bedrock concentrations of gold are very prevalent in this region, and there is the possibility of finding a second concentration on a second false bedrock underlying that which occupied the attention of early workers. Consequently creeks showing evidence of old workings should be tested below the latter for a possible underlying gold run.

Between Cottonwood House and Winged, there is evidence of several ancient channels crossing Lightning Creek in a northwesterly direction. Such merit investigation.

(2) Cariboo Lake valley on the west side of the lake. Any benches on the valley slope merit close prospecting.

(3) Creeks flowing into the north fork of the Quesnel River, north of Sallor Creek and on the same side of the river. An ancient channel of the river lies buried in the left bank of the modern river in this region, and any streams which cut across it are quite likely to originate a false bedrock concentration in the region between this creek and Kintana Creek. These can be prospected by those who are already in this region, and it is not recommended that those now far distant from it should travel to it, as the field is naturally far more limited than in the previous sections mentioned.

(4) The new discovery on Lorne Creek by E. Larson and E. Utterstrom indicates that there are still good possibilities in near-by creeks in the region between this creek and Kintana Creek. These can be prospected by those who are already in this region, and it is not recommended that those now far distant from it should travel to it, as the field is naturally far more limited than in the previous sections mentioned.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THE STOMACH-NERVE SPECIALIST

When an individual is having some "stomach" or "intestinal" trouble which is causing him great distress, he is likely to try any and every method to get relief.

Now it just so happens that many of these sufferers are nervous individuals, are having, or have had, some emotional disturbance which has so upset them that it is affecting the stomach and intestine.

Naturally they first consult their family doctor, and he, after making the usual examination, cannot find any organic disease such as ulcer or cancer and tells the patient so.

Perhaps the family doctor sends the patient to a "stomach" specialist or the patient goes of his own accord; again the patient is told that there is really no organic trouble.

As the trouble is really with the nerves, and the family doctor is now sure of this after the stomach specialist's examination, the question arises as to what is the next step to be taken.

Sending the patient to a nerve specialist to try to discover the cause of the nervousness or emotional disturbance that is causing the stomach upsetment would at first sight seem the sensible thing to do.

However, Drs. T. H. and S. Morrison, of Baltimore, remind us that this type of patient who thinks he has real stomach or abdominal trouble, because that is where he feels distress, would resent or distrust the usual examination, and the stomach specialist, at he treated the "stomach" condition by test meals and drugs, thus relieving the symptoms to some extent, gradually during each visit, could learn what was on the patient's mind, what was really troubling him. Because, as a matter of fact, this trouble acts on the nervous system in such a way that the stomach and intestine do not do their work properly.

The patient will talk more freely about himself and his troubles to a "stomach" specialist than he will to a "nerve" specialist.

Thus the "stomach" nerve specialist can get at the cause of the emotional upset, can discuss it freely with the patient, and finally show him how it is upsetting his stomach and intestine.

How It Started

CALLING HIM A "PIKER"

"Piker" is one of the best-known words in our language for a penurious person, a "lightwad," one who refuses or begrudges paying his share. And many people who have a particular antipathy for this term will be pleased to learn that the piker was originally a thief!

From the old "piker," meaning "one who picks or plucks off; one who steals, especially small things that may be readily picked up," the term "piker" has been known since the thirteenth century, first for a robber or thief, and later for a petty pilferer. Under date of 1440 we find the definition thus by Geoffrey, the Grammarian:

"Pykare, lytle theves." A subsequent spelling was "piker."

The connection in meaning between "little thief" and "piker" is, of course, easily comprehensible.

ADVERTISING ESSENTIAL IN WORLD TRADE

Lord Wakefield Expresses Views to Society of British Advertisers

UNDERCONSUMPTION BAR TO PROSPERITY

The following address to the Society of British Advertisers was recently given by Lord Wakefield, of Hythe, head of the world-wide firm of C.C. Wakefield & Company, Limited, producers of lubricating oils.

"Advertising is so necessary in the modern world that, if it did not exist, it would have to be invented. However diverse the goods they have to sell, advertisers have many interests in common, interests that can only be served by joint action. Their fundamental relation to advertising is one that can be shared by no one else. It is to them—a commodity. They have to buy it; to buy and to use it with economy and skill. Although we advertisers share with members of the profession itself a keen interest in their 'bright ideas,' from the point of view I have just mentioned we stand alone.

"Advertisers, as the years pass, are discovering more and more about the uses of advertisement. They have now at last reached the point of wisdom which consists in knowing how much they still do not know. This is particularly true as regards the commodity-value of the different kinds and degrees of advertising. We look to this society to establish tests and standards that will help us to compile our annual budget to the best advantage. We want more facts about the different media. The Society of British Advertisers can help to keep our own house in order in matters of taste and discretion. The use we make of space and publicity is at least as important as the choice of the best media.

COMMERCIAL EFFICIENCY

"Advertising is essential in the modern world. It is astonishing in how many widely different ways the advertisement carries its message. It has added a sparkle to our commercial life. Wit and humor are some of the advertiser's best weapons. The maker of punk, even, has come into his own again. Whatever the line of attack—whether we cajole the customer, or shock him into attention—the aim is commercial efficiency. Modern large-scale industry obviously depends upon a great and growing demand for its progress. Original and persistent advertising has thus become the salesman's surest aid.

"The increasing need for advertising has made a place in commerce for the man of brilliant 'brain waves.' Possibly it would be truer to say that it is the men of original ideas themselves who have seized the opportunity offered by modern industrial methods. Which ever came first—the hen or the egg, so to speak—British manufacturers look upon the advertising man as a bright particular star in the industrial firmament. He is their organizer of victory. Give him a good article to sell and a reasonably free hand, and your charts of output and costs move in gracious curves in the right direction. Generous advertising is true economy.

WORLD PROBLEMS

"Manufacturers and advertisers have a very direct interest in the problems that confront the nations today. Public attention is concentrated just at present upon conferences and negotiations which we all hope will do much to restore trade and confidence between the peoples of the world. Personally, I sometimes feel that the war, war debts, reparations and all these international issues have to some extent diverted our attention from another important issue. Do we realize the full effect of the tremendous increase in productive power of the last twenty years? A recent revolution has been silently taking place in every industrial country. Factory engineers could give you instance after instance, showing how ten men can produce what would have needed a hundred men not many years ago. It is an endless process, to be found in almost every trade. There is another point that particularly concerns a pioneer industrial country, such as ours. This is, the cumulative effect of long years of export, both of manufactured goods and of machinery for making such goods. We must be realistic; facts compel us to be, sooner or later. If the facts teach us that, in certain directions, we have to deal with a saturated market, other facts suggest that we can build a new prosperity if we understand them aright.

OPTIMISM NECESSARY

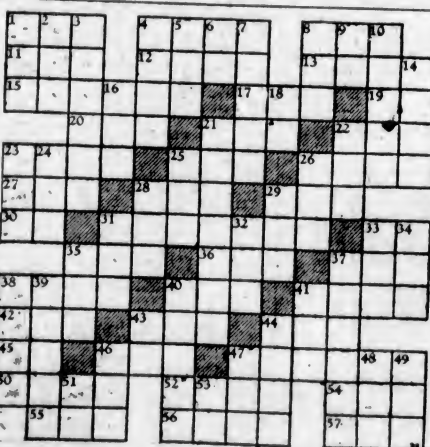

"Advertisers are producers. They know the facts as to our industrial capacity. It is not overproduction but rather underconsumption that bars the way to prosperity. The marvels to be found in our modern factories are meaningless if they do not imply the coming of a new era of prosperity. Scientific discoveries every day add to our knowledge and power. The man in the street has an ever-growing consciousness of new needs. All these are factors which, properly brought together, must mean an even higher standard of life. I have an intense admiration for the way in which millions of our fellow countrymen have endured hardships not of their own making. Let us end them. Our productive power is immense. If we preached—and acted—optimism for six months, I believe the whole atmosphere would change for the better. Pessimism is a poison. Too many people are focusing their attention upon the liabilities in our national balance sheet—they ignore our assets.

"His Majesty the King once said that the greatness of our country lay in the homes of his people. That is a truth of profound significance today. We had a crisis last year, and the way in which we surmounted it has given us a new standing in the eyes of the world. Let us again give a lead. Let us be the first to present once more to the world the picture of a nation in full industrial health and vigor; a people secure and prosperous."

Father, examining the school report, read the remark: "Betty is backward in her reading."

"She must take after you, my dear," he said to Mummy. "You always read the last chapter first."

"Atlantic," the British all-talkie and sound film, showing at the Empire Theatre today only, is a super-production, and a screen adaptation of Ernest Raymond's play, "The Bez." It displays in a remarkable way how the certainty of death reacts upon various people—theists, people of the world, and upon one magnificent priest, who tells them how men ought to die. And there is also another good plucked 'un, the wireless operator, who, true to his calling's tradition, carries on, with the ship sinking beneath his feet. During the "shooting" of these

ROMANO "Penrod and Sam," THEATRE featuring Leon Janney and Junior Coughlin, is now showing at the Romano Theatre. This is the talking version of the picture that made such a stir in silent films nine years ago. In its entirety, "Adventures in Africa," also showing at the Romano today, is the most vivid and complete picture of life on the Dark Continent ever presented in motion picture form.

COLUMBIA Charles Middleton has practiced screen vi-
lains in many pictures, but he claims never to have been quite the arch villain he is in "Mystery Ranch," now showing at the Columbia Theatre. In this picture he portrays the character of a man who kills to satisfy a strange obsession, and his victims include not only men, but birds, and even insects. George O'Brien and Cecilia Parker portray the leading roles in this drama of the great outdoors.

DOMINION Dorothy Lee is one of the best examples in Hollywood of the old saying that a prophet is without honor in his own city. The petite actress who supports Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in "Peach O' Reno," now showing at the Dominion Theatre, lived for five years within a stone's throw of her present studio before her chance came.

"Peach O' Reno" is the seventh picture in which Miss Lee has played with the celebrated comedy team of Wheeler and Woolsey. The film is an uproarious travesty on the divorce and gambling industries of Reno in which Wheeler and Woolsey appear as divorce lawyers.

"When I call at a house at Kilthe quarrel the more they enjoy it.

Pool if he hadn't seen Grandfather
Frog and had some words with him.
And Grandfather Frog would have felt that the "old" Summer had been spoiled for him if he hadn't begun it by telling Old Mr. Frog just what he thought of him.

Now secretly Old Mr. Toad admired Grandfather Frog's handsome green coat and white-and-yellow waistcoat and envied him the great leaps he could take and the way he could swim, but not for the world would he have let Grandfather Frog know it. And secretly Grandfather Frog envied Old Mr.
Toad, his travels out in the Great World and the sweetness of his Spring song, but not for the world would he have let Old Mr. Toad know it.

So it was that this beautiful morning in early June they had resumed their old quarrel and had almost reached the point of calling each other names, which is when you think of it, such an utterly silly thing to do. Grandfather Frog had just opened his big mouth to tell Old Mr. Toad in very plain language what he thought of him, when he closed it suddenly, and, at the same time, made a long, beautiful leap into the water to the bottom, his big goggle eyes lowered into his head to be out of the way and little bubbles of air rising from his nose. Old Mr. Toad could see it all from where he sat peering down between some grasses that quite hid him. A shadow swept over him.
He looked up to see Mr. Marsh
Hawk sail over the Smiling Pool with a scream of disappointment.
"I'm glad Grandfather Frog saw him in time," muttered Old Mr.
Toad.

The next story: "Old Mr. Toad Is Horried."

A Quarrel Ends Suddenly
—By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Most quarrels are without excuse.
Why quarrel, then? Pray what's the use

—Old Mother Nature.

Old Mr. Toad and Grandfather
Frog are cousins. Both were born in the Smiling Pool. Both were tadpoles there and with others grew up through the tadpole stage to little Toads and Frogs. It was then that they parted company. It was then that Old Mr. Toad, a very tiny Toad then, so tiny that he could hide under the smallest leaf, left the Smiling Pool and started out to see the Great World. Thousands of other little Toads did the same thing. In fact, there were no Toads left in the Smiling Pool. But Grandfather Frog, when he became a little Frog, but very much bigger than his cousin, the tiny Toad, refused to go. So did all the other little Frogs. They said they had no desire to see the Great World and that the Smiling Pool was good enough for them.

It was four years before Old Mr.
Toad returned to the Smiling Pool.
By that time Grandfather Frog had grown to be the biggest Frog in the Smiling Pool. He had the handsomest green coat and white-and-yellow waistcoat, and he had the deepest and loudest voice, and he had the best opinion of himself of any Frog in the Smiling Pool.

When Old Mr. Toad returned Grandfather Frog made fun of him, and pretended to believe that he hadn't succeeded out in the Great World and had had to return to his old home in the Smiling Pool. In vain Old Mr. Toad protested that he had returned that his children might be born in the same place that he had been born, and that the Great World was a very wonderful place for those smart enough to make a place for themselves there. Then he slyly hinted that those who never went out into the Great World knew nothing of it and were afraid to leave home.
Thereupon Grandfather Frog had lost his temper.

So this quarrel had been renewed each Spring all through the years, this foolish quarrel between two cousins who were old enough to know better; to know how futile and foolish such quarrels are and how nothing ever is to be gained from them. The truth of the matter is they enjoyed quarrelling. Some people are that way. And the older

CANADIANS FAVORED TO CAPTURE ROWING TITLES

Hamilton Oarsmen Are Chosen to Win Eight-Oared Event

Leander Eight Displays Great Form in Initial Workout Over 2,000-Metre Course as Thousands Applaud—Williams Turns On Speed in Training—Ball Improves

By ELMER DUMAQUE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Canada, who has never won an Olympic rowing title, tonight stands up with oarsmen of four other countries as an outstanding challenger for boating supremacy in Olympic Games.

Over at Long Beach, twenty miles from Los Angeles, Canadian oarsmen have convinced crowds, that on some days number nearly 20,000, they are serious contenders for at least three championships, and likely to provide stern competition in another.

Today Hamilton Leander eight pulled past the main grandstand as thousands applauded their perfect form. Red-shirted men under Coach Bob Hunter, who rowed over the 2,000-metre Olympic distance in 5:49 1-5 in Canadian trials, have found the "feel" of the boat on salt water. Hunter said the crew should better the sensational time they made in the trials, but he considers the eight from England, New Zealand and United States splendid boats.

The English crew, made up of Cambridge University rowers, has created almost as favorable an impression in workouts here as the Hamiltonians. All-Black from New Zealand have shown strong pull, and the polished University of California boat is ranked high.

Improvement in the four-oared crew of Halifax Mimmas has pleased Canadians. Bob Fitzpatrick's men are at home on the Olympic course, being used to salt water. Noel de Mille and Ned Pratt, Vancouver doubles rowers, have worked into splendid shape, and Joe Wright, singles entry, is in far better condition than he was when he won the Canadian trial.

WILLIAMS SHOWS SPEED
Oarsmen have another week and a half to train, but track and field men and other athletes are nearing top form. Sprinters are ready for the gun Sunday, when the first two rounds of heats in the one hundred metres will be run. Semi-finals and finals are slated for Monday. Percy Williams turned on speed in a tuning-up workout today, and young Bert Pearson astonished the gallery at Los Angeles High School Stadium with his speed.

Cliff Bricker, veteran Galt, Ont., distance runner, who is entered in the 10,000 metres, Sunday, is finishing training with only light runs for endurance. He bumps into the great Finnish contingent in the race, won in 1928 by the greatest Finn of them all, Paavo Nurmi.

Jimmy Ball, 400-metre star, whose right leg is regaining strength after removal of a carbuncle, took several light runs today. He has a full week to prepare for this event.

Germany Given Winter Olympic Games in 1936

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Germany was awarded the Winter Olympic Games of 1936 at the opening meeting of the international Olympic committee here today.

The town where the international contests will be held was not decided upon. The 1936 Olympics was awarded to Berlin at the last meeting of the committee.

WRESTLE TO DRAW

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 28.—Henri Deglane, 230, Canadian champion, of Montreal, and Ed. Don George, 216, wrestled one hour to an unpopular draw decision here tonight. George outsped and outthrew the Montrealese in the fast and effective work. The decision was awarded to Berlin at the last meeting of the committee.

AUSTRALIANS DEFEAT 'PEG' CRICKETERS

Deadly Bowling by McCabe and Mailey Too Much for Winnipeggers

WINNIPEG, July 28 (CP).—Deadly bowling of McCabe and Mailey, mainstay of the touring Australian cricket team, proved too much for a select Winnipeg eleven today. The locals lost the match, but made a creditable showing. When stumps were pulled the score was: Manitoba, 138; Australia, 367 for six wickets.

Winnipeg batted fifteen men against the Australian eleven, but three of these batsmen amassed a total of 87 of the runs scored.

Taffy Feistead, who played against an Australian team here twenty years ago, led the scoring with a total of 35 runs. He was followed by two youngsters, Ronnie Turnbull and Mark Pearce, who scored 29 and 22 runs, respectively.

The Australians took their turn at the wicket after lunch and completed enough runs to win the match in the approximately two hours. Two centuries were scored, one by McCabe, who scored 121 runs, and another by Kippax, who had 114 runs to his credit when caught by McCabe's ball.

McCabe's score included six fours and two sixes. Kippax's score included eight fours.

A. A. Mailey performed the hat-trick with the first three balls of his opening. It was the first of his lengthy career.

Bradman did not appear. The noted batsman, indisposed through travel, stated he would participate in the test match tomorrow.

Poland Banking on Her for Points

STELLA WALSH
The United States lost a sure winner in the women's Olympics when Stella Walsh decided to run for Poland, her native land. Miss Walsh has several times unofficially assisted or bettered the world's 100-metre first for women and has won the performance at Los Angeles, which she will be expected to repeat by Miss Nida Strike as the outstanding Canadian contender.

What about this next British threat? Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa stand on their own, but they all come of the breed of the Lion.

You may have read John Tainor Foot's great race horse story, "Look of Eagles." These British runners have the look of power. They have speed, but stamina seems to be an inherent quality, recalling the tireless feet of Alfred Shrub, who could run all day. The four who came in for the closest inspection were Godfrey Lionel Ramping and Hal Genung and Halliwell, where the Lion and the Eagle came face to face.

Canada and Germany, among others, may crowd into this picture with Jonathan Fuller, Williams, Ball, Wilson and Edwards, among others. And there is Jombert, of South Africa. But the old war dance of the Eagle and the Lion will be one of the high spots of the big show and the burden of proof is still with the United States, trailing with two victories against six in the last two Olympic carnivals.

Lord David Burghley, crack hurrier and captain of the Olympic team, is probably the most interesting visitor of them all.

The castle on his British estate is larger than the King's. His wide domains include some twelve or fifteen villages. His line goes back to a day long before Shakespeare. A throw-back to feudal reign, he is one of the most democratic of the entire lot and one of the finest sportsmen that ever led an athletic brigade into action.

Lord Burghley's inspiration will mean much to his team and, on the side, he will be no set-up over the hurdles.

United States has Metcalfe, Tolan, Simpson, Carr and Eastman for the three shorter races. But we had Paddock and Scholz in 1924; we had Wykoff and others in 1928. And certainly no blazing headlines had featured Abraham, Liddell or Percy Williams before they swept into action after the manner of a wildcat from the North Sea. The British may have their share of trouble over the 100 and 200-metre routes, but they expect to revive the old charge of the Light Brigade at the next three races as Ramping, Stoneley, Hampson and Thomas hit the dirt with marching feet. Any 400-metre runner who can outpace Bill Carr and Ben Eastman will deserve an extra sprig of laurel. At present these look to be the world's greatest. But past performances have shown how quickly the shock can arrive on the day of the big test where one happens to be exactly right and another happens to be just a stride away from the top.

The British have always had crack milers, but in the last two Olympics they have had to chase the Finns across the line. Nurmi was too good in 1924 and Larva strong in 1928. Now the Finns have Purje and Larva for 1932, and one gets the feeling that Great Britain fears Finnish feet next week even more than the strides of Halliwell and Cunningham, who may have a surprise to offer, since both are great competitors who seem to be just about ready for the test ahead.

There will be no overconfidence on the United States side this time. With the British leading six to two on the flat since 1924, there is no particular reason to start the cheering just at this stage. Those who travel under the Union Jack have taken a chance in landing only a few days before the Games start, but when it comes to condition the British have always known their way about. They are pointing for the big day, feeling there is quite enough time to have their entries ready when the showdown comes. They have usually had them ready.

THE Spotlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 27.—You would think, offhand, that the Eagle, peering from his eyrie, would have no fear of the Lion when it comes to a matter of speed.

But Coach Lawson Robertson of the United States track and field team had his field glasses properly adjusted when the Lion went into preliminary action for the first warm-up. It seems that Coach Robertson has a deep respect for those leonine legs and he was anxious to see just how they were working.

You can't blame Coach Robertson for this unusual interest. Back in 1924 he saw Harold Abraham run away with the 100 metres, Eric Liddell capture the 400, Douglas Lowe romp away with the 800 and Stalard chase Nurmi to the wire in the 1,500 before Stalard collapsed and crashed near the finish line.

In 1928 Coach Robertson and his staff saw Williams, a young Canadian, lead the rush in the 100 and 200-metre whirls, as Lowe again stalked away with the 800-metre palm.

This means that British or Canadian runners have landed six first running races against two for the United States in the last two Olympics. They have outmatched us three to one, which is something for the Lion to roar about if he happens to feel in a vocal mood. It is a magnificent showing against the pick of the world from the 100 to the 1,500-metre span.

So the arrival and first appearance of Lord David Burghley and his fleet-footed cast was one of the big features of the week. One could look back and see the Olympic look-alikes of Abraham, Liddell, Lowe, Stalard and others—not overlooking Williams, of Canada, who is back again.

What about this next British threat? Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa stand on their own, but they all come of the breed of the Lion.

Entries to Close Today for Annual Tennis Tourney

ENTRIES for the annual scratch and handicap championship tourney of the Kingston Street Lawn Tennis Club will close this evening at 6:30 o'clock with Bert Barnes or Tommy Forbes. Up to yesterday a large number of competitors had filed their names but the field is expected to be increased with several last-minute entries today.

They will be right in the middle of the party this time with at least one or two first on the track. And maybe two or three. At least, Lord Burghley, making no predictions, expects, is confident, his people will carry on their Olympic traditions.

LIBERAL LEADER SHOOT 79 AFTER COMPLETING WORK

Hon. T. D. "Fit as a Fiddle" Paillo, leader of the Liberal Party, returned yesterday morning from a two-day session in Vancouver with a group of key-men of his party, cleaned up the accumulation of work due to his long absence, and then went around the Oak Bay course in record figures for a politician. With Phil Taylor, club professional, as his partner, Paillo traveled around in one hour and forty minutes and carded a fine 79. Time and score considered, this is a record for busy executives to shoot at.

Hundreds Expected To Inspect Italian Liner on Saturday

Ss. California Due Tonight From Mediterranean Ports—Is Fastest and Most Palatial Vessel Operating to Europe Via Panama Canal

Latest advices from the Italian liner California, en route here from Mediterranean ports, are to the effect that she will dock at Rithet Pier tonight instead of Saturday morning. No definite time of her arrival, however, has yet been obtained.

The huge vessel will remain at the dock overnight, and will be open for public inspection Saturday morning. This is the second time she has come to this port in the past twelve months, and her arrival is quite an event, inasmuch as she is the largest vessel operating to this coast from Europe via the Panama Canal.

WILL SEE CITY

More than fifty first class passengers will be on board the ship when she docks at the pier on Saturday morning. The ship will sail through the Panama Canal to the Canary Islands, Gibraltar, Marseilles, Genoa and Naples.

While in Los Angeles the vessel was inspected by more than 8,000 persons. Many are expected to visit the liner while she is here.

Ship's games, while on the boat deck there is a very large built-in swimming pool for aquatic events.

The vessel carries a doctor, stewardess, purser, barber shop, motion picture theatre and orchestra so that there is nothing lacking in so far as a passenger's needs and entertainment requirements are concerned.

After clearing from the Pacific Coast, the ship will sail through the Panama Canal to the Canary Islands, Gibraltar, Marseilles, Genoa and Naples.

Salmon trolling at all points along the coast has been good lately, despite bad weather, and the fish packers are taking big loads to the spring salmon market in Seattle.

Owing to low prices for springs, the trollers are going after cohoes, which are plentiful and far easier caught, and this year are bringing just as good a price as the springs. The cohoes are all being delivered to the canneries on Barkley Sound, Vancouver and New Westminster.

The motorship Pacific Ranger, which docked here from United Kingdom ports yesterday, will be followed by the Dinteldyk, which is due at Rithet's pier early this morning.

The Pacific Ranger after discharging a light cargo of freight here, proceeded to Vancouver. A total of 125 tons of freight will be taken on board by the Dinteldyk, which also will load 900 cases of canned loganberries for the London market.

PILCHARD RUNS ARE REPORTED

Reduction Plants on West Coast Now Operating—Sockeye Catch Is Poor

TOFINO, July 28 (Special).—Pilchard fishing is in full swing and reduction plants at different points along the Coast all report their boats as catching good hauls, several plants already having processed as high as 800 tons into oil and fertilizer meal. In Barkley Sound no fish have appeared so far, the boats of plants operating there having to go farther north to Sidney Inlet and Nootka, where good runs are being experienced.

The sockeye run at Tofino Inlet is disappointing so far. Up to the close of last week the catch was only half of that in normal years. Exceptionally heavy rains have been experienced during the past few weeks since the season opened, and it is thought the sockeye have gone straight up the river, whereas in ordinary dry seasons the fish school up and play around the inlets until the Fall rains occur, and it is when they are doing this that they are caught by the fishermen. There were twenty-six seine boats in the inlet last week and many of them did not catch 500 fish.

SEATTLE PLANE IS CONFISCATED

Pilot Fined on Two Aviation Charges in Vancouver Court

VANCOUVER, July 28.—Pilot C. W. Still, of Seattle, arrested by civil aviation officials and Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Kelsey Bay, 165 miles north of Vancouver, on Tuesday, appeared in district court here today before Magistrate G. L. Fimbre and was fined $150, and the airplane, owned by Pilot Still, was ordered confiscated.

Walter Gorrie, companion of Pilot Still, was not penalized. Still was fined $100 on a charge of flying a plane without a license and $50 for not having a certificate of airworthiness for his machine. The men are being held by immigration authorities for return to Seattle.

Pilot Still, who was en route to Alaska, was refused a customs clearance at Seattle and was warned there that he was liable to arrest if he landed in Canadian territory. Despite this, Still took off, landing at Sechart, forty miles north of Vancouver, for gas, and was later forced down at Kelsey Bay owing to propeller trouble.

Stevedores Set Record In Loading

A new loading record was set here yesterday by the Victoria and Vancouver Stevedoring Company, when the N.Y.K. liner Heian Maru was cleared for Vancouver at 11 a.m., one hour ahead of schedule.

The vessel came here to load 500,000 feet of lumber. Two gangs, with Walter Richards as foreman, worked two days to load the vessel, averaging 22,000 feet of lumber an hour. This is 4,000 feet of lumber an hour better than the previous record.

The Heian Maru, after loading in Vancouver, will proceed to Seattle, then return to Vancouver to complete her cargo before proceeding to the Orient.

When Mrs. Auchincloss, New York society leader, and her friend, Miss Janet Moore, leave for the Orient aboard the Ss. Empress of Japan on Saturday, there will be a brace of sprightly porkers at the dock to cast wistful glances at the departing pair as the ship recedes into the distance.

COUNCIL HAS BUSY SESSION

Ladysmith Board Considers Many Varied Phases of Municipal Activities

LADYSMITH, July 27.—Deferred and accumulated business made this evening's session of the city council an exceptionally busy one, and practically every phase of municipal activity was touched upon during the discussions of the meeting.

A communication from a lady in Alberta was received asking for local opportunities for one desirous of settling at Ladysmith. She required particulars regarding a fairly substantial home and approximately ten acres of developed land. Her inquiry will be referred to the real estate agents of the city.

W. A. Pritchard, president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, wrote formally thanking the mayor and council for their representation and help at the recent conference at Nelson. In this connection, Mayor Mason, who represented Ladysmith at the conference, presented his report.

DELINQUENT TAXES
In reply to an inquiry by the city, the inspector of municipalities advised the council that a section of the Municipal Act empowered a council to enforce payment of due taxes by regular proceeding in a court for the purpose.

The city truck has been engaged for some time transporting relief workers from the city to the places of work on the public highways, and the question of liability in case of accident during travel has cropped up. The Workmen's Compensation Board does not cover this eventuality, and apparently the city is more or less responsible. Steps will be taken to protect the city, and meanwhile the system will proceed as at present.

J. A. Hartley, secretary for the Agricultural Society, wrote asking the council's co-operation and help during the annual Fall fair on September 21 and 22. The society will be accorded the cordial help and sympathy of the council.

On September 1 His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada, accompanied by Lady Bessborough and staff, will stop at Ladysmith for a brief period during the official tour of the island, for the purpose of placing a wreath on the cenotaph. The council, co-operating with the local unit of the Army and Navy Veterans and other public bodies, will attend to the official reception arrangements on the occasion.

LIGHT AND POWER
The matter of negotiations with the Nanaimo Light & Power Company came up, and the electric light committee for the city advised that the city clerk ascertain from the utilities the cost of installing transformers and connections to the Ladysmith system and who would take place on the usage of power appliances within the city. The electrician will investigate the complaints with a view to rectifying the troubles.

TOFINO, July 28.—The Tofino Branch of the Canadian Legion has appointed Comrade T. A. Comrade Barnard is honorary president of the Tofino branch, and is also the retiring provincial president for the Legion in British Columbia.

SHEEP FLOCK WIPED OUT

Marauding Dogs Responsible for Serious Loss to Sooke Breeder

METCHOSIN, July 28.—During the early morning hours of Sunday dogs attacked a flock of sheep at Sooke, the property of Mr. Brotherton and R. W. Robinson. The latter's flock was being pastured during the summer with those of Mr. Brotherton.

When discovered seventeen sheep were found dead or in condition that necessitated slaughter and eight more are as yet unaccounted for. Of this number, twenty-three were the property of Mr. Robinson, with the result his flock is practically wiped out. Not only is this a great financial loss, but means that after several years of careful breeding, mostly from purebred animals, one of the best grade flocks in the district has been completely destroyed. It is an infraction of the law to allow dogs at large after sundown, but many persons disregard this law. Many of the campers or residents of summer cottages take along the family dog and this adds to the number of uncontrolled dogs in the locality. As yet the offenders in this case have not been located, but unless some drastic measures are taken to rid the southern end of the island of cougars and dogs, the sheep industry, it is feared, will soon be a thing of the past, as many breeders are contemplating going out of business.

El Salvador plans to make its 1932 fair, at San Salvador, the greatest ever held.

DECIDE AGAINST BOARD'S ACTION

NANAIMO, July 28.—The Teachers' Federation has won the first round in its fight with the school board of Nanaimo. This was made apparent today by word received from Victoria to the effect that the council of public instruction had decided against the action of Nanaimo school board in dismissing Mr. Towell, Miss Macdonald and Mrs. Clarke, and has sustained the action of the board in dismissing Mr. Richards.

Nanaimo school board will hold a meeting in the near future to consider what action is necessary to combat the decision sent out today by the board from Victoria. The dismissal of the above mentioned was for the purpose of curtailing expenses and to reduce the burden upon the taxpayers of the city.

MOVE TO RETAIN DISTRICT NURSE

QUALICUM BEACH, July 28.—A special public meeting of ratepayers was held here Wednesday evening to reconsider the question of retaining a public health nurse for the district.

Letters were read from the Department of Education and after considerable discussion, on the motion of C. G. Golding, seconded by Mrs. J. C. Bailey, it was decided to obtain signatures of ratepayers on a petition to ask Superintendent of Education S. J. Willis to call a special ratepayers' meeting here to reconsider the subject.

INSPECTS MINING WORK AT TOFINO

Old Gold Claims Being Reopened—Black Sand Panning Continues at Wreck Bay

TOFINO, July 28.—George A. Clothier, district resident engineer to the Provincial Department of Mines, spent last week in the Tofino-Clayoquot district, looking over various local mining developments. At the Leora Group Mine, situated on Elk River, Kennedy Lake, a gang of men is at work installing a hydraulic flume and a concentrator, and when that work is completed, a start will be made on the sinking of a 200-foot shaft. This mine is owned by W. Gibson, a mining engineer of San Francisco, who worked the same claims twenty years ago and took out a large amount of gold. With the price of gold considerably higher than twenty years ago, Mr. Gibson expects much better returns when production starts again. A. Armstrong and W. Grant have charge of the installation work.

Mr. Clothier also investigated the recent Thornberg-Binns gold claims situated on Flores Island, Sidney Inlet; this claim was recently made by A. Thornberg, of Aboussat, and staked jointly by Mr. Thornberg and C. Binns, of Port Alberni. Other prospects visited by the engineer included the black sand gold workings at Wreck Bay, Long Beach, where several men still continue to pan good wages. This work has now been going on for thirty years, with always a few men to be found there. Mr. Clothier returned to Vancouver by the Princess Norah.

Mrs. Clarkson presented Mrs. Barrie with a lovely bouquet of carnations and gypsophila.

Successful Fete Held by Malahat Chapter, I.O.D.E.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, July 28.—The Malahat Chapter, I.O.D.E., held a successful fete at Shawnigan Lake in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Wednesday. Mrs. C. H. Dickie, of Duncan, introduced by Mrs. Stewart Macleod, opened the fete. The hall was tastefully decorated with flowers and greenery, and the various stalls added greatly to the color and interest of the scene. Mrs. Musket had charge of a popular home produce stall, while Miss Winnie Clark officiated at a "tree of fortune," most cleverly arranged by Mrs. Stewart Macleod. Mrs. Hunter superintended a contest which was won by Colonel I. Barclay-Wilmut. The ice cream stall was in charge of Miss Helen Macklin. Tea was served by Mrs. Beasley and Mrs. H. Hollings, aided by many willing helpers.

A delightful musical programme, arranged by Mrs. Skrimshire, was given during tea by the following: Mrs. C. H. Dickie, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Harly Morden, Mr. Chiversall and Mr. James McFarlane. Mrs. Monk, of Duncan, acted as accompanist. Misses Vera Shariand, Joan Deans, Loraine Brooke and Betty Allen gave a pretty playlet, "The History of the Flig." Mrs. F. H. Russell, of Duncan, told fortunes by cards. Mrs. G. More, secretary of the chapter, officiated at the door, where she was kept busy admitting the large crowd attendant at this delightful fete. A substantial sum was realized.

Among those present were Mrs. R. H. Gale, district commissioner of Girl Guides from Saanich, and party; Mrs. Curtis Sampson and party, including Mrs. P. E. Corby, Provincial Chapter secretary, and Miss A. B. Cook, educational secretary of Provincial Chapter.

MURDER OF HAZEL MOR

by AGATHA CHRISTIE

CHAPTER XXV

The return message showed agitation and a reckless disregard for expense.

Had no idea it was criminal case did not see Martin Dering Friday agreed support his statement as one friend to another believed his wife was having him watched for divorce proceedings.

"Oh," said Emily. "Oh—you are clever, Inspector?"

The Inspector evidently thought that he had been rather clever. His smile was gentle and contented.

"How men do stick together," went on Emily looking over the telegrams. "Poor Sylvia. In some ways I really think that men are beasts. That's why," she added, "it's so hard when you find a man on whom you can really rely."

And she smiled admiringly at the Inspector.

"Now, all this is very confidential. Miss Trefusis," the Inspector warned. "I have gone further than I should in letting you know about this."

"I think it's adorable of you," said Emily. "I shall never, never forget it."

"Well, mind," the Inspector warned her. "Not a word to anybody."

"You mean that I am not to tell Charles—Mr. Dering?"

"Journalists will be journalists," said Inspector Narracott. "However well you have got him tamed, Miss Trefusis—well, news is news, isn't it?"

"I won't tell him then," said Emily. "I think I've got him tamed all right, but as you say newspaper men will be newspaper men."

"Never part with information unnecessarily. That's my rule," said Inspector Narracott.

A faint twinkle appeared in Emily's eyes, her unspoken thought being that Inspector Narracott had infringed this rule rather badly during the last half hour.

A sudden recollection came into her mind, not of course that it probably mattered now. Everything seemed to be pointing in a totally different direction. But still it would be nice to know.

"Inspector Narracott?" she said suddenly. "Who is Mr. Duke?"

"Mr. Duke?"

She thought the Inspector was rather taken aback by her question. "You remember," said Emily; "we met you coming out of his cottage in Sittaford."

"Ah, yes, yes, I remember. To tell you the truth, Miss Trefusis, I thought I would like to have an independent account of that table turning business. Major Burnaby is not a first-rate hand at description."

"And yet," said Emily thoughtfully, "if I have been you, I should have gone to somebody like Mr. Ryecroft for it. Why Mr. Duke?"

There was a silence and then the Inspector said:

"I wonder. I wonder if the police know something about Mr. Duke. Inspector Narracott didn't answer. He had his eyes fixed very steadily on the blotting paper."

"The man who leads a blameless life!" said Emily. "That seems to describe Mr. Duke awfully accurately, but perhaps he hasn't always led a blameless life? Perhaps the police know that?"

She saw a faint quiver on Inspector Narracott's face as he tried to conceal a smile.

"You like guessing, don't you, Miss Trefusis?" he said amiably.

"When people don't tell you things you have to guess!" retorted Emily.

"If a man, as you say, is leading a blameless life," Inspector Narracott said, "and if it would be an annoyance and an inconvenience for him to have his past life raked up, well, the police are capable of keeping their own counsel. We have no wish to give a man away."

"I see," said Emily, "but all the same—you went to see him, didn't you? That looks as though you thought, to begin with at any rate, that he might have had a hand in it. I wish—I knew who Mr. Duke really was? And what particular branch of criminology he indulged in in the past?"

She looked appealingly at Inspector Narracott but the latter preserved a wooden face, and realizing that on this point she could not hope to move him, Emily sighed and took her departure.

When she had gone the Inspector sat staring at the blotting pad, a trace of a smile still lingering on his lips. Then he rang the bell and one of his underlings entered.

"Well?" demanded Inspector Narracott.

"Quite right, sir. But it wasn't the Duke at Princeton. It was the hotel at Two Bridges."

"Ah!" the Inspector took the papers the other handed to him. "Well," he said, "let's settle that all right. Have you followed up the other young chap's movements on Friday?"

"I'm not certain arrived from Exhampton by the last train, but I haven't found out yet what time he left London. Inquiries are being made."

Narracott nodded.

"Here is the entry from Somerset House, sir."

Narracott unfolded it. It was the record of a marriage in 1884 between William Martin Dering and Martha Elizabeth Ryecroft.

"Ah!" said the Inspector, "anything else?"

"Yes, sir. Mr. Brian Pearson sailed from Australia on a Blue Funnel Boat, the Phidias. She touched at Cape Town but no passengers of the name of Willett were aboard. No mother and daughter at all from South Africa. There was a Mrs. and Miss Evans and a Mrs. and Miss Johnson from Melbourne—the latter answers the description of the Willetts."

"I'm not," said the Inspector—son nor Willett is the right name. I think I've got them taped out all right. Anything more?"

There was nothing else it seemed.

"Well," said Narracott, "I think we have enough to go on with."

Two mornings later Emily was seated in Inspector Narracott's office. She had come over from Sittaford that morning.

Inspector Narracott looked at her appraisingly. He admired Emily's pluck, her courageous determination not to give in and her resolute cheerfulness. She was a fighter and Inspector Narracott admired fighters. It was his private opinion that she was a great deal too good for Jim Pearson, even if that young man was innocent of the murder.

"It's generally understood in books," he said, "that the police are intent on having a victim and don't in the least care if that victim is innocent or not so long as they have enough evidence to convict him. That's not the truth, Miss Trefusis. It's only the guilty man we want."

"Do you honestly believe Jim to be guilty, Inspector Narracott?"

"I can't give you an official answer to that, Miss Trefusis. But I'll tell you this—that we are examining no only the evidence against him but the evidence against other people very carefully."

"You mean against his brother—Brian?"

"A very unsatisfactory gentleman, Mr. Brian Pearson. Refused to answer questions or to give any information about himself, but I think—" Inspector Narracott's slow Devonshire smile widened. "I think I can make a pretty good guess at some of his activities. If I am right I shall know in another half hour. Then there's the lady's husband, Mr. Dering."

"You've seen him?" asked Emily curiously.

Inspector Narracott looked at her vivid face, and felt tempted to relax official caution. Leaning back in his chair he recounted his interview with Mr. Dering, then from a file at his elbow he took out a copy of the wireless message he had dispatched to Mr. Rosenkraus. "That's what I sent," he said. "And here's the reply."

Emily read it.

Narracott 2 Dryadale Road Exeter. Certainly confirm Mr. Dering's statement. He was in my company all Friday afternoon. Rosenkraus. "Oh!—but," said Emily, selecting a milder word than that she had meant to use, knowing that the police force was old-fashioned and easily shocked.

"Yes—yes," said Inspector Narracott reflectively. "It's annoying, isn't it?"

And his slow Devonshire smile broke out again.

"But I am a suspicious man, Miss Trefusis. Mr. Dering's reasons sounded very plausible—but I thought it a pity to play into his hands too completely. So I sent another wireless message."

Again he handed her two pieces of paper. The first ran:

Information wanted re murder of Captain Trevelyan. Do you support Martin Dering's statement of alibi for Friday afternoon. Divisional Inspector Narracott Exeter.

ROMAN MEAL IN THE

"GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME"

"What shall I eat in Summer to keep 100% well?"

This is a question I am continually asked and here is my answer. "Eat alkaline foods, fruits, steamed vegetables, milk, egg yolks, salads, almonds and Roman Meal. These are all alkali-forming foods and will re-establish your normal alkali reserve. Nature's first defence against disease. Roman Meal is the only alkaline grain food known. Such a diet will alkalize your blood and keep perfect the functions of your digestive organs. In consequence, you will withstand the excessive heat and store up resistance to colds, flu, and other sicknesses in the winter months. Roman Meal need not be eaten hot. Each Roman Meal package has recipes for delicious ways to serve it cold or uncooked. Stick to your Roman Meal this Summer. Keep the acid from your blood and enjoy to the full the 'Good old Summer time.'"
